I AM A CONVERSATIONALIST

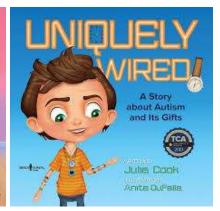

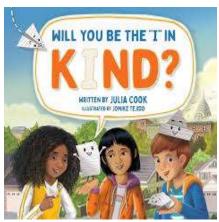

This month we will be showcasing literature that connects with the idea of "I Am A Conversationalist." In the nonfiction section, we will be focusing on topics that require us to have conversations with each other about our emotions, mental health, physical health, and challenging topics. In the fiction section, we will spotlight classic literature, which has created lots of conversations over the years, for the older kids. In the "Look At These!" books, we will spotlight author Julia Cook, who has a fun way to handle tough conversations. Enjoy reading and talking about what you've learned with each other this month!

Inspirational Quotes in Honor of "I Am A Conversationalist" Month!

Nothing compares to a beautiful conversation with a beautiful mind.

I have the deepest affection for intellectual conversations. The ability to just sit and talk. About love, life, anything, & everything.
